Netheravon : 100 Years of History

Tidworth, Netheravon and Bulford Garrison Commander, Col Paddy Tabor, Deputy Commander, Lt Col David Barron and Netheravon Station Commander, Lt Col Chris Gosling, pictured at the camp gates as Netheravon Station closes, after 100 years. Only the Airfield and the Joint Services Parachute Centre remain operational after 31st March.

Netheravon holds a key place in the history of military aviation, having had a hand in the birth of the RFC, the RAF, the Fleet Air Arm and the original Army Air Corps. A short history of Airfield Camp can be found on the Drumbeat website : visit www.drumbeat.org.uk and go to the "Local Interest" section.

News of Tidworth's Memorial Statue

Police have found pieces of the War Memorial statue which was stolen from its plinth outside the Royal British Legion Club in Tidworth just before Remembrance Day last year. The pieces were found in the Everleigh area and had been chopped up using a disk cutter before being dumped there. Anyone with information is asked get in touch with the Police, either by dialling 101 and asking for CID Salisbury, or by calling Crimestoppers.

A replacement statue is being made by the artist, Vivian Mallick, using the original mould. It is hoped that the new statue will be in place for Remembrance Day this year. Part of the founding process involves first making a wax copy, which will be on show at the Project Workshops in Cawley, near Grateley, which will be open to the public on 12-13 May.

The Garrison Regrets

Since Drumbeat first 'hit the streets' 15 years ago, civilian members of our Tidworth community have been receiving copies of it through their letterboxes the same as military families, thanks to the generosity of the Parish, now Town, Council. This has been a great way for civilians working for the MoD and ex-serving Personnel, as well as people living locally with no connection with the Forces, to keep up to date with 'who is doing what' and 'what's on' in the local area we all live in.

The Garrison regrets that the Town Council no longer wishes Drumbeat to be delivered to civilian households, with immediate effect.

The Town Council plans to invest resources into producing a Tidworth Council website, which can be found at : www.tidworth-tc.gov.uk

Join Drumbeat online at www.drumbeat.org.uk and on Facebook

Thanks to SSAFA !

The oven at AWS Ordnance House gets quite a bit of use by young people during various activity sessions throughout the week. So when the oven started to wear out, we were concerned about how we would be able to continue to cook.

Thanks to SSAFA offering us funding to buy a brand new oven we are now able to continue with our cooking activities. There is a cooking session in partnership with 'Skilled for Health' on Wednesday evenings and different sessions on Thursdays and Mondays.

Any young people interested in developing their cooking skills can contact Colin on telephone 07769878874.

Work begins on New Theatre

Ground preparation work began on the site of Tidworth's new Garrison Theatre on 5th March.

The new building will have a 700-seat auditorium, conference and training facilities and Garrison offices.

The main use of the new building will be for Army briefings but, being located 'outside the wire' in St Andrew's Road, it may also be able to accommodate activities for the local community. The new building will be provided by Aspire Defence as part of the MoD's Project Allenby/Connaught.

No Smoking Day 2012

Local schools took part in the Army Primary Health Care poster competition to draw attention to this year's 'No Smoking Day' on 14th March.

- Second category : Planted pots, window boxes, hanging baskets - Winner will receive £25 in garden vouchers.

Judging will take place on Friday 6 and Saturday 7th July Prizegiving will take place in August at the full Town Council Meeting in the Wylde Road Community Centre.

- All entrants whose gardens have been judged will receive a £10 garden voucher.

Application forms can be obtained from the Town Council office in the Wylde Road Community Centre and should be returned by 19th June.

As 12 Mechanized Brigade deploys

As 12 Mech Bde completes its final MRX before deploying to Afghanistan, Brigade Commander, Brigadier Doug Chalmers, speaks about the task which the Brigade will face :

"We take over from 20 Armd Bde, who have achieved an incredible amount over the Winter", said the Brigadier. "The Afghan Security Forces are more confident than ever before and are increasingly taking the lead for security. The local Afghans are now cautiously optimistic as the insurgents have been unable to regain the initiative.

Our job this Summer is to consolidate and build on the gains made over the Winter. Above all else, we will continue to encourage Afghan confidence and momentum.

"But there is still a lot of work for us to do on HERRICK 16 to secure those conditions."

As the operational focus shifts from counter-insurgency operations to one of 'Security Force Assistance', 12 Brigade's aim will be to enable the Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) to provide security and sustainable stability for their people, without support.

The Brigadier continued : "During this tour, we must ensure that we do not lose sight of the fact that the Afghan people are the prize in this campaign and our motto is :

"WITH the ANSF - FOR the people - AGAINST the insurgent"

"It's been a long journey, this training, to get us to where we are now. It's taken us from Kenya and Canada to places such as Thetford, Salisbury Plain, or over in Castlemartin. It's been a long time away. We are where we are now, because of that time; we are well trained, we're competent and well equipped and we're ready to take on the task to be done. The professionalism and dedication of every soldier that I have met has been outstanding.

"But it is to our partners and loved ones that I offer my deepest gratitude. I'm very very conscious that it's the tolerance of our families and the support of our families that have enabled us to get ourselves trained to this pitch and I'm also alive to the fact that the tension over the next 6 months or so will be felt quite keenly by them. We'll do whatever we can to keep them informed as we go through the next tour."

Operation Clean Sweep

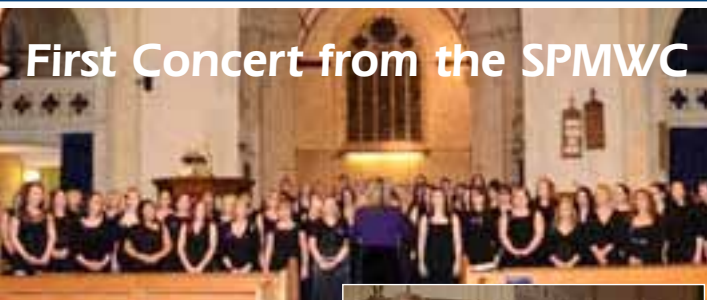

Garrison Units took part in 'Operation Clean Sweep' at the end of March, a Garrison initiative to clear litter from targeted areas.

Time spent by soldiers picking up rubbish is time NOT spent training, which could ultimately cost lives on operations. If everyone disposed of their litter properly, Operation Clean Sweep would not have been necessary!

First Concert from the SPMWC

The success of the Military Wives' Choir featured in Gareth Malone's television programmes just before Christmas last year has led to the creation of several other choirs in military communities all over the country.

The Salisbury Plain Military Wives Choir began as an idea shared between friends on Facebook at the beginning of this year and things quickly grew from there. Head Teacher of Kiwi Primary School in Bulford, Susan Raeburn, offered her services as Musical Director and the group now meet at the school on Thursday evenings to rehearse.

When the Choir members discovered that Susan Raeburn is taking part in the Help for Heroes 5 Peak Challenge in July, they decided to help her meet her fundraising target by holding a concert in Bulford's St George's Church, after only very few rehearsals. They were joined by the 'Singing for Heroes' children's choir from Larkhill, the Pewsey Male Voice Choir, the Junior Choir from Kiwi School and special guest, organist Jean Martyn, a finalist from Britain's Got Talent 2011.

The concert raised over £700 - well done everyone!

The Choir has won the "Shine 4 Wiltshire" competition and will be singing at the Olympic torch celebrations in Salisbury on 11 July. The Choir will also sing at the Tidworth Community Awards ceremony at Wellington Academy on 25 April.

4 RIFLES fixed it for Adam !

4 RIFLES received a very special VIP visitor last month : 6 year old Adam Sokoloi, who was diagnosed with Acute Lymphoblastic Leukaemia in May 2009 and is still undergoing chemotherapy treatment, had told his Mum, Emma, that if he could have a wish it would be to spend the day on an Army camp to see what the soldiers did and to have a look at the vehicles. Captain Steve Harris of 4 RIFLES heard about Adam and, with the kind permission of the Commanding Officer Lieutenant Colonel Nick Thornton, he rallied the troops to make a visit possible to make Adam's dream come true.

When Adam arrived, he was presented with a special tailor-made uniform along with custom medals and he was one of the first guests at the newly-refurbished Officers Mess where he ate breakfast. A full day of "everything Army" followed.

"The day has been fantastic", said Adam's parents, who had accompanied their son for the day. "It's something that he will never forget!"

4 RIFLES are looking forward to company level deployments to Canada in 2012, before beginning pre-deployment training for Afghanistan.

A Fusilier's Skiing Success

Fusilier Andy Barlow of The First Battalion, The Royal Regiment of Fusiliers has had an amazing first season as a member of the Combined Services Disabled Ski Team which braved sub-zero conditions in Meribel for the recent 2012 Inter-

Services Ski and Snowboard Championships, (ISSSC).

The team is made up of serving personnel and veterans who have been injured on or off operations. Three-track skier Fusilier Andy Barlow was among those taking part, in only his first season of competitive skiing. Andy lost his left leg rescuing a colleague from a minefield in Afghanistan in 2006, but this did not prevent him competing successfully against his able-bodied counterparts in a number of events, including the Slalom, Giant Slalom and Super G. Head coach Staff Sergeant Mark Scorgie was, therefore, particularly pleased with Andy's success at the ISSSC, saying :

"Seeing Andy Barlow complete the Super G safely and strongly was a real highlight !"

Clarendon School celebrates

On 1st June 2012, Clarendon Junior School will hold a very special celebration to mark not only HM The Queen's Diamond Jubilee, but also the 50th anniversary of the opening of Clarendon Junior School !

During the day there will be a School production, a picnic lunch, fairground rides and a Summer Fayre. The children will also be presented with Jubilee mugs.

The School was officially opened on 12th April by Lt Gen Sir RNHC Bray, GOC Southern Command, and cost £64,731 to build. If anyone has any interesting stories about the School, or if you would like to run a stall at the Summer Fayre, please contact the school on 01980-607007.

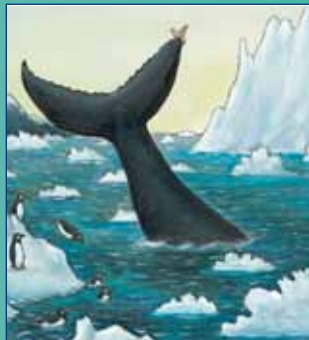

News from Tidworth Brownies

1st Tidworth Brownies celebrated Thinking Day on 22nd February by attending a special service in Larkhill Garrison church, along with the rest of the Brownies in the Division.

Thinking Day is celebrated by Girl Guides and Girl Scouts all over the world, when they remember that they are part of a world-wide organization of girls, united in their purpose and by their Promise. They all participate in activities suggested by the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts.

This year, Tidworth Brownies focused on the Ivory Coast: they have written letters, made flags and sent photos to Brownies over there, explaining what their life is like here and what they do in Brownies. They have been finding out about what life is like for a Brownie on the Ivory Coast, such as, what uniform they wear and how their Brownie traditions are different to ours.

Quality of Army Health Care is recognized ..

Army Primary Healthcare Services (Wessex) Region has won the Knorr-Bremse Award for "Health and Wellbeing in the Workplace" at the 2012 Wiltshire Health Improvement Partnership Awards held in Warminster on 23rd February. The award was collected by Colonel Nigel Smith, Regional Clinical Health Director.

In addition, both the Department of Community Mental Health at Tidworth and APHCS (Wessex) Region were shortlisted in the categories "Improvement in Mental Health and Wellbeing" and "Improved Sexual Health and/or Reduced Teenage Pregnancies" respectively.

Larkhill Medical Centre was nominated for the Liquid Media Public Award for their outstanding contribution to improved health and wellbeing.

Army Primary Healthcare, working in partnership with the MOD Police and RMP at Bulford, was nominated for "Innovation in Health Improvement" for their roadshows, to increase awareness of the impact of road traffic collisions and improve attitudes of young drivers.
