Forces' Festival Success

The Forces March and Festival 2010 is expected to raise over £100,000 for Project 65 - The Veterans' Charity.

Project 65 - The Veterans' Charity was founded in 2007 with a very simple aim : to raise the profile of and to raise funds for those organisations that provide care and support for Service Personnel affected by injury or trauma in the service of their country, and their families.

Beneficiaries include : ABF The Soldiers' Charity, The RAF Benevolent Fund, The RN Benevolent Trust, St Dunstan's, Royal British Legion, BLESMA and Help for Heroes. Additional charities this year include The Afghanistan Trust, Hounds for Heroes and The Rifles Regiment Care for Casualties Fund.

Last year, Project 65 Chief Executive Danny Greeno organised a 65-mile run to mark the 65th anniversary of the assault on Pegasus Bridge, following the route taken by airborne troops in gliders from the point where they took off in England to landing in Normandy, just before D-Day in 1944. The event raised over £150,000 for Service charities.

This year's event, "The Forces March", traced the route taken by the newly formed 6th Airborne Division when they marched from Ilfracombe to Bulford in 1942 - the 132 miles is the equivalent of 5 marathons in 5 days.

On 31st May, the final day of the 2010 Forces March, runners arrived throughout the day at Double Hedges in Bulford where the Forces Festival was also taking place. Entertainment at the Festival included a fly-past by a Dakota, trade stands, a petting zoo, dodgems, inflatable obstacle courses and laser clay shooting, with live bands throughout the evening and a firework display to finish.

135 runners took part in the march, including Captain Dan Staples, the Adjutant of 3 Regt RMP in Bulford, who finished 6th and was the first military runner to complete the March. His team also scooped the coveted Army Challenge Cup - they now have to return in 2011 to earn it once more !

The March and the Festival will happen again next year and entry applications are already being taken. More information at www.forcesmarch.org.uk and www.forcesfestival.com.

Watch out for details of next year's events in Drumbeat !

3 Armoured Engineer Sqn run the length of the Country

Between the 17th and 28th of May, 3 Armoured Engineer Squadron (3 AES) embarked on an epic run from John O'Groats to Lands End. A 5-team relay, each team running between 15 and 20 mile stretches each day, covered 80 miles a day for 11 days. The aim of the event was to raise money for 4 chosen charities as well as to challenge the fitness of the troops. The chosen charities were Help for Heroes, ABF The Soldiers' Charity, SSAFA Forces Help and The Ronald Macdonald House Charity.

Every day the runners set off at 0400 hrs, from where the previous day's route had finished. Thanks to some exceptional luck, the weather stayed dry for the whole period but the midday sun certainly drained the energy out of the runners. By the end of the 11 days, most of the participants had covered close to 105 miles each, equating to 4 marathons! The effort was tremendous and most were spurred on by the charities they were running for.

Overall, the teams were well received across the nation, with drivers stopping to give donations to the runners in the most obscure locations, as well as people coming out of their homes to offer support.

At the end of the event, £1100 had been raised in collections along the route and, when combined with the pledges given on sponsorship forms, a total close to £8,000 had been raised. The money will be split between the charities once it has all been collected.

Tandem Jump for BLESMA

The Army Parachute instructor, Dave Pratt, said he had never heard anyone scream so loudly in freefall before! Ministry of Defence civil servant, Mrs Claire Winter who works at HQ Theatre Troops in Netheravon, was making her first ever parachute jump to raise money for the British Limbless Ex-Servicemen's Association (BLESMA).

"It was so loud I'm sure I could have been heard in Dorset," said Claire after landing safely at the Joint Services Parachute Centre in Netheravon. "It was over very quickly. After the noise you experience in freefall as you reach 120 mph, the canopy opens and you float in quiet such as I have never experienced before. It was a sensation overload and I was absolutely overwhelmed. What an adrenalin rush - I want more of that!

Claire raised almost £2,000 for BLESMA.

1 Mech Bde : The Egypt Staff Ride

34 people from the Brigade HQ and its units deployed on a Staff Ride to Egypt over the period 8-14 May 2010, with the aim of developing an understanding of the tactical decisions taken at brigade level during major combat operations. In order to achieve this, three major North African campaigns were studied: El Alamein 1942, the Suez Crisis 1956 and Sinai Campaign (known as Yom Kippur War) 1973. Throughout the Staff Ride the lessons of the past were constantly linked to the current day contemporary operating environment, thereby setting the current fight in the context of former campaigns.

We had the good fortune to be accompanied by two renowned academics: Doctor Niall Barr, a reader of Military History at Defence Academy at Shrivenham and Gary Sheffield, Professor of War Studies at the University of Birmingham, whose knowledge added much to the debate and discussions that took place throughout.

The first day in Cairo was used to set the scene, including several presentations and a visit to the Citadel and Mohammed Ali Mosque and ending with an invitation to the British Embassy for a cocktail reception.

The following four days were nothing short of hectic.

Monday focussed on the Sinai Campaign and started with a surreal visit to the October 1973 Panorama, a unique building with a 360 degree painting depicting the Egyptians storming the Bar-Lev Line. Afterwards, the group moved to the east side of the Sinai by crossing the canal via an Egyptian Military ferry and visited several stands, one of which was at a captured Israeli bunker in the middle of the desert.

On Tuesday, the group moved from Cairo to Alexandria where it would be based for two days, visiting various locations including Qaitbay Fort, the Egyptian Memorial, Alexandria Bibliotheca and Chatbay Military Cemetery. The stands visited on this day allowed the discussion on the Sinai to be completed.

On Wednesday the group moved 100km west of Alexandria to El Alamein, the main part of the Staff Ride. In 9 hours the group visited 6 individual sites and covered 8 questions in temperatures upwards of 35 degrees. Although all the stands that were visited during this day were interesting and vitally important, the key event for many, including our guest, Mr John Carbis, a Chelsea Pensioner and veteran of the Suez Crisis, was the opportunity to visit the Military Cemetery at El Alamein, where Padre Daniel from 2nd Battalion The Royal Welsh conducted an excellent service.

After visiting the Pyramids at Giza, the group returned to the UK on Friday. The Staff Ride gave the 34 participants the chance to study three unique campaigns that all have a relevance in today's contemporary operating environment. Many lessons were learned and much discussion took place and everyone who participated is now better placed to understand the current fight and relate the lessons of our predecessors to the modern day.

Crime Prevention Advice

When going out, securely lock all doors and windows - no matter what the temperature and no matter how long you intend to be away. "Just popping across the road for a minute" or "just nipping down to the shop" is ample time for a criminal to strike.

Downhill all the Way !

Ultra-marathons hurt ! This was one of the many lessons that were learned when a team from the 2nd Royal Tank Regiment attempted to run the Dead Sea Ultra Marathon in Jordan in April.

Having arrived late in the evening we took the opportunity the following day to acclimatise and visit Petra, one of the modern Seven Wonders of the World. It was a fantastic introduction to Jordan and a truly spectacular, if somewhat crowded, sight. Having ticked off our sight-seeing we spent the next day wandering around Amman trying to suppress our sense of dread about the upcoming event. This was not helped when we went to the official Carb-Loading Party in the evening (they do exist) and read in the handbook that we had already done six out of the ten "Don'ts before an ultra marathon".

On the day of the race, following a terrible night's sleep we made our way down to the assembly area which could only be described as utter chaos. Amidst a sea of fun-runners, mostly made up of local teenagers, we were herded back and forth until we were finally bundled on to another bus which, we were assured, was going to the Ultra-Marathon start point. Much to our collective dismay, it was !

We limbered up with our fellow competitors, who ranged from wiry professional long distance runners to an elderly Welsh gentleman who was walking the entire distance for the charity SCOPE. After a further 30-minute delay, the pain began. Different members of the team approached it in different ways. Capt Nightingale and LCpl Dunn set themselves a steady pace and surged towards the end for extremely good finishing times and a respective 3rd and 4th place in their category. Maj Senior kept his pace steady throughout and also finished in a respectable time, whilst others decided that aggression was the best tactic and pushed hard for the first 30 km or so until the body slowly began to tire. Perhaps the most sensible of all was the Ops Officer who took a "tortoise and the hare" approach and remained at a slightly faster than walking pace for the whole course.

Overall it was an excellent trip even if we did look like a bunch of rugged, hobbling octogenarians walking through arrivals at Heathrow Airport on our return to the UK.

Jordan is a fantastic place and the race itself, whilst horrible at the time, was an event worth competing in and a remarkable achievement for all concerned, particularly considering that the majority of the team had only done a couple of long distance runs in the immediate period leading up to the event. Most importantly however, the team managed to raise over £2000 by competing in the event for Salisbury Hospice, a really worthwhile charity. This certainly made all the aches and pains worthwhile !

Royal Visit for a Royal Regiment

The last time that Field Marshall His Royal Highness The Duke of Kent visited the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers in 2008 he experienced the full, sweltering heat of an Iraqi summer and the threat of attack was ever-present. Thankfully as the Duke flew into Tidworth last month, conditions were rather more pleasant !

Having only returned from the Dunkirk commemorations the previous day, the Duke, who is Colonel-in-Chief of the Fusiliers, was greeted by the Commanding Officer and spent the day with the First Battalion.

During his visit His Royal Highness was pleased to present Sergeant Major Ian O'Dea, 40 from Coventry, his Long Service and Good Conduct medal.

"It's fantastic to be getting this medal today - particularly from a member of the Royal Family," Ian said.

This prestigious award, which recognises 15 years of unblemished service, reflects his dedication and service to his country in Afghanistan, Iraq, Northern Ireland and Bosnia.

The Duke toured the newly-built soldier's accommodation and enjoyed lunch with the Officers and Senior Non-Commissioned Officers of the Battalion. Afterwards, during demonstrations of the latest sniper and heavy-weapons equipment in use by the Infantry, he also met troops who served in Afghanistan last year.

His Royal Highness has been Colonel-in-Chief to The Fusiliers for over 40 years, and his family's association with the Regiment stretches back to his great-great-grandfather, the first Duke of Kent, who commanded the Regiment in 1789.

Tidworth and Larkhill Education Centres to merge

In September, the Education Centres in Tidworth and Larkhill will be amalgamating and moving to Jellalabad Barracks in Tidworth.

The two refurbished buildings overlooking the parade ground will provide excellent facilities for all the usual AEC services, including Resettlement, Personal Development, Basic Skills, Soldiers' and Officers' Education and e-Learning, with 7 study rooms, 5 syndicate rooms and a vast student common room. Offices and administration will be located in a separate building nearby.

The e-Learning Centre from Larkhill has already moved and is now up and running in the 4 RIFLES Training Wing in Bulford, while the Larkhill Library will be staying in Larkhill and is being refurbished and upgraded to include extra computers, resettlement and Basic Skills provision.

The current Tidworth and Larkhill Education Centres will close on 30th August and open in the new building in September : Basic Skills on 6th September and other courses on 20th September.

We're going on a Bear Hunt !

Chris Sturgess, Garrison FM's breakfast show presenter, keeps children at the AFF's Big Tea Party enthralled with his reading of "We're going on a Bear Hunt".

" From Little Acorns ... "

... or pine cones, anyway ! Just six inches tall, over 400 conifers have been planted in a new "tree nursery" which has been created in Tidworth as a part of a replacement tree programme by Aspire Defence Service Ltd (ADSL). The trees come from hardy varieties of Fir, Cedar, Larch, Spruce, Redwood, Pine and Cypress. The intention is that these young trees are grown-on for another three to five years and then used to plant out as replacements for dead and dying trees that have been removed on the garrisons across Project Allenby/Connaught.

The idea to create the tree nursery was the result of a conversation between ADSL's tree specialist, Amelia Williams, and Lt Col Simon Ledger from the Garrison Management Team, following the success of last year's Tidworth tree planting programme.

The young trees came from the Swanborough Conifer Nursery in Pewsey and were planted by a team from Gavin Jones, ADSL's grounds maintenance sub-contractor. Fourteen beds have been cut and the compost used to enrich the chalky soil has been recycled from wood chippings collected on the construction sites. The trees have been put into the beds in special bags which contain the roots, to allow them to be transplanted safely in the future.

The area is ideal for the young trees, however, with an established woodland nearby, they are at risk from rabbits and deer. Therefore, a rabbit-proof fence has been erected and a trial is proposed of a special chemical spray which has a pungent smell to deter deer from entering the area and causing damage.

As he officially opened the new tree nursery, Lt Col Ledger said, "This is a great example of different organisations with different aspirations, working together for the common good; a true sign of a really mature working relationship."
